Discover how your organisation can utilise Google Analytics to bring data to the heart of decision-making. By examining the types of data we can collect, where that data comes from, and how we can access it, we can understand, analyse and act on the data that's most important to us. A variety of modules are available, depending on your team's experience and requirements.

- ▲ Understand the basics, including hit types, data types and navigating the interface.
- ▲ Sessions and Users; why data scopes are so important.
- ▲ Measuring acquisition and conversion, from campaign tagging to goals and ecommerce.
- ▲ Unpicking channel performance using attribution models and insights.
- ▲ Report manipulation and segmentation.
- ▲ Ensuring analysis is robust, and where to start when looking at data.
- ▲ Account configuration and data accuracy.
